Thanks [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy] I still do not expect that we will need a control room, but I will double check.

I will check into allergies and special medical conditions for the new folks. In the past, I was the only one with an allergy [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy] that did not come into play very often.

We understand the need to move the call next week to Thursday, but I would not be able to participate until 11:00am Washington time as I have a doctor's appointment that morning that I cannot change. However, if we need to do it at the same time of day, we can have Anna Phillips run the call from EPA's side.

Mark

Hi team EPA,

Carrie will send a specific follow-up to the email below with some specific questions.

1. I just went across the street to the lovely hotel where EPA will be staying. I don't know if Walker mentioned this, but the Italians hosted the post-Marine Litter workshop banquet there. It is an opulent place, and the food was delicious. This time, I asked to see the business center, since there won't be a control room in Rome. The "business center" is in the same smallish room as the concierge and has only one computer and printer. There is no copier, and the concierge said you just need to ask to get copies, and they'd even deliver them to your room. I asked for a price list, and he said all of these things are free services. A control room is set up with supplies, a copier, etc., so not having the room will be a limiting factor for the delegation.

2. Also when there is a control room, our Financial Management Center can exchange money upon arrival, and reverse accommodation on the way out. Absent that, there are plenty of ATMs around Rome, and also when the EPA team is in the embassy, I (or someone in our Econ or ESTH Sections) can take them to our ATM for cash, or the adjacent bank where EPA team members can cash checks.

3. We have a nice commissary here with all sorts of swag. If people want embassy T-shirts, mugs, umbrellas, duty-free gifts like fancy pasta, purses, jewelry, and perfume, we can take them for a shopping trip after country team. They accept U.S. $ and credit cards.

4. Had you planned on sending a requirements cable? If not, it might not be a bad idea to send us a check list of your requirements as a reminder of all of the small details that might require EPA funding.

5. Could we move next week's call from Wed. to Thursday, please? POTUS will be in Rome Tuesday and Wednesday. [REDACTED] is seeing if we can do it via DVC. We'll have an internal countdown meeting here that same day.

6. Does anyone have any special medical requirements? Someone from our health unit will point out hospitals to the advance team.

Cheers, [REDACTED]

IT needs?

Mark and [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy] I'm reintroducing you. Mark, you might remember a conversation you had with [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy] when you were here. We know EPA doesn't want a control room in Rome, but [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy] wants to make sure that all technology needs are met by team EPA in Rome.
